Reference # 1 below from the www.earthage.org site lists 10 reasons why Dinosaurs are likely not millions of years old, but rather only thousands. For example, did you know that dinosaur bones are sometimes found unfossilized or unmineralized: or that they carbon date the same as Neanderthal bones, saber-toothed tiger bones, and mammoth bones: i.e. only thousands of years old?

Or were you aware that various different proteins have been found inside of unfossilized dinosaur bones: for example, collagen, elastin laminin, and red blood cells?

The articles referenced below provide many more details.
